

Joseph Lang Double Rifle

The pinnacle of the Gun Makers art has always been to harnessing the extreme energy of the “Express “double rifle. No one Gun Maker understood this challenge more than Joseph Lang. Through his developed the .470 Nitro Express he determined that strength and simplicity was the key to producing a rifle that would endure the pressures created from these fearsome cartridges. The Joseph Lang double rifle is still built on the classic “Back Action” sidelock mechanism ensuring extreme strength, reliability and accuracy that can be relied on when hunting the world’s most challenging game.
